My overall experience with the Heinrich Heine University in Düsseldorf was quite positive. The campus is a pleasant environment to spend your study days in and the staff and professors that I have interacted with were all very friendly and accomodating. At the Faculty of Humanities, the courses are taught in an interesting and interactive way which is beneficial for learning experience. Furthermore, small events were held on campus that were pretty interesting, like a summer music festival or poster sales. As a student with an inadequate level of German for learning about complex subjects, I have only taken courses in English. Unfortunately, I found that the range of sociological courses taught in English was quite small and therefore had to pick some courses that were not of interest to me. Other courses offered within the Media and Cultural studies and Transcultural studies programmes, however, were very interesting and insightful, elaborating on topics that I have not engaged with before to such deapth in my studies. I also took a language class, an A1 level of German to be specific, which was structured efficiently to earn a level of knowledge of the language that I did not previously have. In general, based on my experience I can recommend the university as an Exchange destination primarily to those who have some level of understanding German and can take courses in that language, but also to those sociology/social sciences students who would like to learn more about empirical studies, mostly quantitative ones.

Ich stimme der Veröffentlichung meines Erfahrungsberichtes ohne Nennung meines Namens auf den Internetseiten der Heinrich-Heine-Universität zu. I agree to the anonymously publication of my field report on the website of Heinrich Heine University.	Ja/Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Nein/No <input type="checkbox"/>
