It has been such a unique experience to study on my thesis at Heinrich Heine University. Libraries, study rooms and of course teaching staff are great. Students and all staff are always friendly and helpful. I have done my thesis research at library during summer semester. There are plenty of online and offline resources in the library. This has made my research easier. Many thanks to my thesis supervisor professor, he was always friendly and helpful. Erasmus coordinator and department Erasmus coordinators are also friendly and helpful. I would study my PhD at HHU, if I had an opportunity.

I've taken a few free language courses during semester. There were many different language course option like Spanish, English, German, Japanese etc. I took language placement examinations which are held by HHU Language School for English and German to see my language level. If you have valid certification to show your level, you will not need to take placement examinations. The language courses helped me to improve my language skills in reading, speaking, grammar and vocabulary. That was an opportunity not to be missed.

I've stayed in STW dormitory. That option is very nice and cheap. It's also close to the campus. But there are limited places, you may not have a chance to stay in STW. It's hard to find an accommodation in Düsseldorf. However you can check neighbor cities because public transportation is very good in Germany. I don't need to pay extra transportation fee thanks to my semester ticket. You can search on applications and websites to find shared rooms to stay in Düsseldorf, it may take more time to find suitable room. By the way, be careful with scams!

To summarize, it was such an amazing experience to study at HHU in Düsseldorf. Don't forget to visit other cities and countries!
